I am a Physics graduate from Andalas University with a focus on Geophysics. During my studies, I also worked as a Laboratory Assistant, where I managed student grades, supported experiments, and ensured efficient lab operations.

Beyond academics, I am an active and enthusiastic individual with strong organizational and teamwork skills, proven by my experience as a coordinator in several campus organizations. I also enjoy design and editing, which allows me to express creativity and communicate ideas more effectively.

I aspire to build a career in the education and industrial sectors. I am highly motivated to apply and further develop the knowledge I have gained in Geophysics, as I am deeply passionate about working in this field
